

The Top 10 Performances of 2013

By David Fleshler and Lawrence Budmen
Jan 7, 2014

MOST IMPROVED PERFORMANCE

After ragged performances of symphonies by Mahler and Brahms in 2012, the Miami Symphony rebounded impressively. Under the musically incisive direction of Eduardo Marturet, the orchestra gave well-coordinated, smoothly professional performances of major works by Wagner, Elgar and Brahms and a festive, Miami-accented version of a Viennese New Year's concert. (LB)

HONORABLE MENTIONS

Ángel Romero's graceful, atmospheric performance of Rodrigo's Concierto de Aranjuez with the Miami Symphony Orchestra. (DF)